Skeptics argue that creationists have no science to speak of, much less that it supports biblical Creation.

However, Creation scientists daily prove otherwise. Recent studies in cave origins verify creationists' predictions about the effects of the Flood; the discovery of mega-seismites, in Wyoming, supports creationists' Flood theory of Catastrophic Plate Tectonics; the discovery of mass dinosaur graveyards, in Wyoming, supports creationists' predictions of catastrophic Flood burial; and discoveries in the human body provide decisive evidence of a Grand Designer.
